MINOR MENTION.

—See Joseph Reiter's spring styles.
—Additional local on seventh page.
—Store your stoves with Darol & Wright.
—For SALE—A car load of horses, at W. C. Holland's Livery Stable, on Main street.
—Paist is insane, and he will go to Mt. Pleasant, so say the authorities.
—Justice Schurz is at interim judge of the supreme court, Aylesworth having taken a brief vacation.
—For complete unreliability, a certain paper we know of, and not very far away, is becoming notorious.
—The C. R. I. & P. R. R. brought in the Chicago run Monday with the usual heavy - all for the west.
—Judge Vaughan is at home sick. Reckless action was too much for our ex-mayor, but he is not seriously indisposed.
—WANTED—Situation at any kind of work. I am a man by trade. Address Henry Price, city, or leave word at Bee office.
—The police are up to several little games of the crooks, and we will hear about the unearthing of a jewelry plant before long.
—George Blaz-In, the popular shoe dealer on South Main street, has made arrangements to accommodate the large stock of boots and shoes he expects daily from the east.
—The Council Bluffs lodge of the Iowa Legion of Honor have leased the Knights of Labor hall, and their meetings will be held there hereafter on the first and third Saturday nights of each month.
—Two fellows calling themselves Tom Tough and John Puff, were on a spree Sunday night. The judge thought they had broken the laws of both God and man. So he put on an extra fifty cents. Having no money they went to jail.
—There is no earthly chance for Brush or Lyons. They are sure of a term in the penitentiary. Such policemen as Edgar and Brooks are worth having. This is only one of a series of big feathers they have put in their caps in the last few weeks.
—The names of John T. Baldwin and W. H. M. Pusey are not of the kind that newspaper malice can harm. These gentlemen need not pay any attention to the parties who are instructed to oppose them with the pencil so long as their course of life alters not.
—Mr. J. P. Vincent was in the city yesterday. Mr. V. is one of the chief men of the extensive works at Florence, near Omaha, known as the "cut-off works." He wants men and he is paying liberally, and a few teams are wanted. See ad in special column.
—The big hole in the ground on the east side of Main street at the junction with First, means that the Hon. D. C. Bloomer is going to build a two-story brick block there. The excavation is nearly complete for the cellar, and a huge pile of brick shows up in front for material.
—Now is the time to fix up your house, and when taking out the old carpets and old furniture, stoves, etc., don't forget that A. J. Mandel is anxious to buy anything of value in this line, and if you are wanting goods, remember that new and old house furnishing goods are kept in great variety by A. J. Mandel, 325 Broadway.
—In Judge Aylesworth's hall of justice, Pierson vs. Swickard occupied the close attention of the court. A hundred dollar horse was the subject matter in dispute. The case was taken under advisement, and the judge will render his decision when he has fully noted the weight of all the points made by the learned counsel.
—In Justice Abbott's court S. and J. Stonestreet appeared to answer the charge of feloniously appropriating the staff of life, or its near relative a sack of flour. On the trial of the cause no trial was had the prosecuting witness failing to prosecute. The gunny sack which contained the flour of the family first named had no brand on it, hence it could not be identified, but a gunny sack it was universally voted was a new style receptacle for flour.
—The article in yesterday's Bee, in regard to L. Pratt, does great injustice to that gentleman. Hon. W. F. Sapp called yesterday, and stated that Mr. Pratt was not arrested; that he was his counsel, and that he and Mr. Wright, attorney for the Union Pacific, had an amicable arrangement, and as Mr. Pratt wished an investigation made they went on his bond. Mr. Pratt claims that he has not embezzled any funds, and in order to have a thorough investigation the above amicable arrangement was made. We are sorry we have been the innocent cause of any injustice to Mr. Pratt.
—The best Spring medicine known is that wonderful tonic, Brown's Iron Blitters.
—Those imported birds at Brackett's are all singing nicely.
—Bargain in Dry Goods.
I am now settled in my new store on Main and Pearl streets, second door below the postoffice, where I am prepared to show you some special bargains in dry goods. Good, honest goods at the lowest prices possible, will be my motto. I intend you shall have no excuse to cross the river for dry goods. Standard Turkey red table damask, fast colors, forty cents per yard. Linen towels, fifty cents per pair, worth eighty cents. Fine black silks at 1.25 per yard, warranted not to cut. Black and colored cashmeres in all grades at Omaha prices. Call in and see. No trouble to show goods. I will have in a few days a full line of patterns. Very respectfully,
J. R. Davidson.

PERSONAL.

Conductor Bond last night ran the Cannon Ball out on the great Wabash.
The Ogden register displayed names under the heading of Monday, as follows: D. S. Mint, A. W. Wood, A. T. Cleveland, Chicago; W. D. Gilman, Kansas City; E. W. Hibbert, Missouri Valley; Wm. M. Smith, S. Louis.
The Pacific house register gives us the following names for Monday's arrivals: Geo. W. Carter, Des Moines; M. Riley, Milwaukee; E. R. Caldwell, banker, Dunlap; P. M. Keyes, Red Oak; C. C. Burroughs, Decatur, Ill.; D. H. Feed, Monmouth, Ia.; J. W. Gaudon, Loveland.
Col. John Lindt, the gentleman who will go farther and spend more money to help a soldier than any other gentleman we can think of, is doing all he can to combine the soldiers and sailors by making them members of the soldiers' brotherhood, the Grand Army of the Republic. Comrade Lindt will muster a post at Macedonia on the 26th inst.
The best preparation of iron a doctor can prescribe is Brown's Iron Blitters, because it does not injure the teeth as other iron medicines will.
Northern Nebraska Lands.
W. W. Wallace, our coal dealer, just returned from a trip through northern Nebraska, reports the country a beautiful one. He says, however, that the lands are largely in the hands of speculators. This curse of new countries shows itself everywhere, and men who expect to own land should lose no time in securing it before a monopoly price stands between them and the heritage of the people.

When People exchange social greetings, civility is promoted by a glass of "Hub Punch." This admirably prepared punch, impromptu, is delightful either with water or lemonade. Replenish your sideboard with it.
It does seem to us from Brackett's display on the sidewalk last Saturday that he had baby carriages enough to supply the entire state of Iowa, and part of Nebraska too.
Doings of the City Council.
The mayor and five aldermen responded to the roll call at the city building last evening. Alderman McMahon being the absent member.
After the ordinary preliminaries a number of bills for labor were read and allowed, all other bills being laid over.
The petition of A. C. Graham for the fixing of the circus licenses at $150 was referred.
The petition of A. C. Graham for certain privileges in the way of improvements was referred.
The petition for the improvement of Indian creek, by piling the places where the banks are washing away, was referred to committee of the entire council.
Mr. E. L. Shugart addressed the council in favor of a brick circular sewer along the creek.
A petition for the right of way along Union avenue for the Union Pacific, and proposing to deliver freight and passengers on Broadway, at its junction with Union avenue, was presented, and on motion a committee of three aldermen and three citizens, including the mayor was appointed to investigate the matter and report.
A discussion of the question revealed objections to the abandonment of that avenue to any railway, but a general desire was manifested that some other route should be selected.
The following committee was appointed: Aldermen E. L. Shugart, A. M. Palmer, and E. O. Graham, in conjunction with the committee on streets and alleys from the city council.
A petition for a lamp post and a couple of sprinklers came up and was referred.
The bond of City Clerk Grutman was presented and approved.
Bids for curbing and filling lower Main street were opened. Wickham Bros. were the lowest bidder on stone; M. A. Moore was the only bidder for filling.
Mr. Shugart urged expedition. The bids were referred with power to act.
The city attorney appeared at the chief of the fire department held the office for one year and not during good behavior as previously stated.
The Bluff street extension was reported adversely. Final action postponed.
Adjourned to the evening of Monday next.

There is only one state institution for the education of the sightless, and it is called the Iowa college for the blind. Dr. J. F. White, of our city, who is a member of its board of trustees has just returned from the quarterly meeting at the college, which is located at Vinton, Benton county. He tells us that the institution is in a very flourishing condition, with an increased attendance, but that there is room for plenty more that should be there. The work being done is one of great benefit to the unfortunate individuals who have lost their sight, and is highly appreciated by all who are interested. The last legislature appropriated money for the employment of an oculist. This has been done and his work is quite satisfactory, he having operated successfully in numerous cases.

Crim. Con.
There is domestic infidelity in the family of Mr. Charles Carroll. Charley tells us that his wife has left his bed and board to go after other men and that during the absence of her liege lord she has been playing Elizabeth to a Beecher known as "Uncle" and who is a huckster by profession and a bad man generally. Mr. Carroll has sold his household goods, and is all broken up. Whether this is truth or fiction we know not but Charley is vouched for as a good man and true.

Grand Larceny.
Chief Fields is stocking up the police headquarters in good shape. His assortment of ready made clothing, boots and shoes, although not large, is of excellent quality, and having been secured without money, it will be disposed of without price to its lawful owners when the same have been ascertained. It seems that the C. B. & Q. freight cars have been raided more or less for months past. A detective was employed to work up the case but no clue was obtained until a young man named C. W. Lauderdale came to Officer Rogers and told him that he was offered a suit of clothes by a party that talked and acted very strangely. Edgar smelled a long tailed rodent, and told the chap to make his purchases and he would shadow the thief.
After skirmishing around for hours, the dealer in ready made clothing suspiciously on foaming something, refused to take the customer to the place where he had the articles planted, but said that he would bring him a suit and told him that a sixteen year old boy kept the fence, or thief's place for hiding goods, but that the old woman was honest enough, and it wouldn't do to take him there. This was reported to Edgar, and he then knew where the stuff was, although the information was given without name or location to guide him, but a thorough policeman don't require much of a hint to act upon. Edgar then secured the assistance of Officer Brooks, and together they watched proceedings until the fruit was ripe for picking; then they put the focus on the thief and the informer, the latter arrest was a blind, and safely caging the birds, questioned the thief about his accomplices and found that Theodore Lyons, yard watchman at the C. B. & Q. freight yards was a partner. In half an hour "Big The" as he is called, had the exquisite pleasure of being a prisoner on the charge of grand larceny and then they took him to the house where the goods were stored, and after diligent search they found an old barrel in the cellar, propped well filled with stolen boots. Further search revealed a big gunny sack filled with clothing of the best quality.

Another man, name unknown, was evidently more interested than an honest man could be, and he was introduced to the hand cuffs. The thief registered as Charles Brush. "Big The" was a very honest and much abused man until the jailer found in his pockets the tags he had taken from the clothing, then he broke down completely.

When People exchange social greetings, civility is promoted by a glass of "Hub Punch." This admirably prepared punch, impromptu, is delightful either with water or lemonade. Replenish your sideboard with it.

The bone of contention among the medical fraternity can no longer be considered St. Jacobs Oil, since drugists whose veracity can not be doubted, and eminent physicians like A. A. White, of Pittsfield, Mass., give and corroborate their testimony cheerfully and without solicitation. This speaks volumes.—Providence (R. I.) Democrat.
